Classroom Expectations

Students are expected to practice music issued and perform this music to the best of their ability at all rehearsals and concerts. Students are expected to be on time to all rehearsals and concerts and to show appropriate respect to the director at all times. Students are expected to follow all classroom/rehearsal rules as set forth in the orchestra handbook. Students are expected to be fair, honest and trustworthy in their use of school property and the property of others. Students are expected to dress appropriately for class and at all rehearsals/concerts.

Course Description

This course is designed to refine the fundamentals of string playing. Students in this course will continue to improve upon the skills required to perform well on their instrument. Chamber music will be used to teach the fine details of ensemble performance. In addition, students will learn facts about music theory and music history to augment their understanding of artistic performance.
